Drambuie

Prince Charlie's Liqueur

The origin of "DRAMBUIE" and the basis of its production give it a character distinct from other Liqueurs.

Brought to Scotland by a follower of Prince Charlie in 1745, the recipe was given to a MacKinnon of Skye, and the secret has ever since remained in one family. The MacKinnon of that day employed the materials which were available, and in place of Brandy a fine old Whisky was used. This, along with heather honey and herbal ingredients of recognised value as aids to digestion produced a Liqueur which soon gained the post of honour on the tables of Highland Aristocracy, and is now known world-wide.

ELIMINATION is not enough

Phosferine Health Salt Tones as it Cleanses

Intoxication must accompany the regular daily removal of the causes of Constipation, and this is now accomplished by Phosferine Health Salt, with total freedom from the enervating after-effects produced by old-fashioned salines.

Phosferine Health Salt gently cleanses the system from impurities and removes the poisonous waste matter which clogs the food channels and at the same time imparts freshness and vigour to the digestive organs and tone to the entire body.

Scottish Nationalist Agitation.

Edinburgh, October 22.
The National Party and the various other sections who have committed themselves to the setting up of a Scottish Parliament in Edinburgh have had a good run for their propaganda, but opposing opinion is much more powerful and widespread than the Home-Rulers subject, and a movement is now on foot to secure that this opposition, particularly in West of Scotland, shall find adequate expression. It is a non-party opposition, and its representative and weighty character will be found to be beyond challenge. Sir James Lithgow, the chairman of the Scottish Development Council, speaking in Edinburgh on October 21, said that in his capacity as an industrialist he has completely failed to discover any evidence whatever that any form of Home Rule would be other than detrimental to the interests that he is associated with and he is entirely opposed to anything of the kind.

Lady Alexandra Haig.

As deputy for her mother,
Countess Haig, Lady Alexandra
Haig will visit Glasgow for Poppy
Day. General Sir Ian Hamilton will accompany Lady Alexandra at the luncheon which the Glasgow City Business Club, one of the leading agencies for the sale of red poppies, gives annually in honour of the occasion.

Bridge of Allan Hotel Sold.

The Royal Hotel, Bridge of Allan, has been sold although the name of the purchaser has not been disclosed. On the outbreak of war the hotel, which was the largest in Stirlingshire, was taken over by the military and became the headquarters of General Egerton, Commanding the 52nd Lowland Division. Later it was converted into a barracks for the accommodation of some 800 men, but since the war it has been unoccupied.

Honour for Scottish M.P.

It is announced that the council of Institution of Civil Engineers have nominated Sir Murdoch Macdonald, M.P. for Invernesshire, who is vice-president, for the office of president for 1932-33 in succession to Sir Cyril Kirkpatrick, and the election will take place next week. Sir Murdoch has been already president of the Junior Institution of Civil Engineers, and this new appointment invests him with the highest honour his profession can bestow on any of its members. He has been twice awarded the gold medal of the Institution for his distinguished engineering work on the Nile.

Dr. Milligan's Successor.

The Chair of Divinity and Biblical Criticism in the University of Glasgow, to which Dr.
George H. C. Macgregor has been appointed in succession to Dr.
George Milligan, is the most recently founded professorship in the Faculty of Theology. Dr. Macgregor, being the fourth holder of the Chair. Like Dr. Milligan he has family connections with Aberdeen, and like Dr. Milligan he brings to the Chair a reputation for exact and patient scholarship.

Rebecca West.

The name Rebecca West, under which writes one of the most brilliant literary women of the day, is, of course, a pseudonym taken by Mrs. H. M. Andrews, who belongs to Edinburgh. The source of pen names is interesting and a reader of a Scottish paper wonders if he has discovered the origin of this one, having found that in Essex in the year 1645 a woman named Rebecca West underwent a trial for witchcraft.

New Industry for Glasgow.

Mr. William Watson, of the Scottish Development Council, announced at Dunfermline on October 20 that one of the largest American manufacturers, representing a specialised textile product, had decided to locate a new industry in Glasgow. "In doing so," Mr. Watson said, "they have merged the interests for this new specialised production in this country, the Continent, and many of the British Empire Markets, with one of the oldest fabric manufacturers in Glasgow. This Scottish and American interest, which will be known as Darlington-Fabrics (Great Britain), Limited, will be an event of outstanding importance to the textile industry of Britain as a whole, and will lead to a manufacture of an extensive range of products of a very high grade and of a quality not so far produced in this country. In ad-

RADIO FEATURES

WHAT I SAW AT OLYMPIA

SOME VIVID IMPRESSIONS OF A MAGNIFICENT SHOW

(BY "P.W." TECHNICIAN)

This year's show marks the beginning of another and even more important phase, the popularisation of the radio-gram. This past year the ordinary mechanical type, with the exception of portable models, has virtually disappeared from the market, and at least two of the largest manufacturers no longer list them.

But I do not think that radio-grams have replaced them completely as yet. I believe we have been passing through a kind of transition period where many people have hesitated to purchase mechanical gramophones, but have not bought radio-grams because these have been rather new concepts, and the public is notoriously suspicious of anything savouring of novelty.

But I agree with the executive I spoke to on the subject for a few minutes at the Climax stand, that in all probability this coming season will largely be a radio-gram season. The commercial radio-gram is now a stabilised commodity both in point of price and of efficiency. It is no longer an experiment.

The Climax all-electric radio-gramophone is excellent proof of this fact, by the way.

Of course, many listeners will use their existing gramophones in combination with the latest radio receivers, for providing a good pick-up is used, it doesn't matter a scrap what the "grammy" is so long as it has a good enough motor to keep its turn-table steadily rotating at the correct speed.

A Useful Combination.

Such a combination is a radio-gram. There is provision for the connecting up of a pick-up to use in such a scheme on most of the modern better-class sets. For example, it is a feature of the Ferranti super-heterodyne receiver. And who would buy a new mechanical gramophone when an old one and a pick-up will suffice to turn the Ferranti super into a topping radio-gram.

On the radio side you could want nothing better, for the Ferranti super is a first-class production. Needless to say, its L.F. side is thoroughly Ferranti, and you don't find kinks in the curves of Ferranti amplifiers!

Before we leave the subject of radio-grams I must make mention of the huge Garrard electric gramophone motor which I saw. I fancy it must have been the largest working model at Olympia. It was a perfect model and its bright finish made it a superb exhibit.

From this my mind at once jumps to the working model of the Lewcos potentiometer. The Lewcos potentiometer embodies an ingenious and novel principle. There is a circular plate held away from the resistance element at its centre. But this plate tilts so that a part of its edge comes into contact with the resistance track.

To see a large model of this component with its huge tilting plate sweeping round all but made me feel dizzy. However, I must say it was a striking demonstration of the effectiveness of the scheme, and of the general soundness of the design of the Lewcos potentiometer.

Another large model was shown by J. B. It was a model of one of their excellent variable condensers. And I thought its effectiveness was heightened in this case by the fact that the model was not a fantastic giant but was no larger than was necessary clearly to enable the finer points of design of the component to be examined. There is a certain point beyond which in cases an enlargement may become a monster!

But this was not the case with the big valve models shown by Cossor either. At the Cossor stand I was specially interested in the metallised valves they were showing, because it was about a year previously that a Cossor technician first asked my opinion as to the future of the metallised valve. At the time I must admit I had slight doubts. I was a bad prophet, for I did not see a big future for the then new valve development. I believe I am correct in saying that Cossor introduced the metallised valve, and in so doing opened up wonderful new possibilities in the design of H.F. amplifiers. It has enabled these to be simplified enormously.

But then, Cossor were always enterprising and seem to have an uncanny intuition in valve matters. They did stout pioneering in mains valves as well. They were also among the very first to visualise the possibilities of kit sets and their present "Melody Maker" has a number of famous and successful models behind it.

Very Striking Display.

I thought the method of displaying T.C.C. condensers most striking. The various types were standing in illuminated show-cases shaped like large T.C.C. condensers. T.C.C. are condenser specialists, and they provided visitors with the opportunity of seeing practically everything that is worth seeing in modern fixed condenser technique.

There were large condensers such as have been ordered by and are used in some of the biggest broadcasting stations in the world, and there were, at the other extreme, tiny condensers such as figure in the grid circuits of valve receivers.

Another intriguing idea in presentation was embodied in the Lotus display where the chassis of one of the latest Lotus sets was stood on a mirror so that the underneath parts of it could be inspected easily. The Lotus Table Console set was worth examining, for it includes many up-to-the-minute features, including a variable-mu valve.

Up-to-date Coils.

I found quite a number of visitors examining the model of the "Modern Wireless" "Diodin" set, which was on the Colvern stand. They were also obviously interested in the many Colvern coils shown, and that is not to be wondered at, for whatever progress and development occur in coil design you can be sure that Colvern are actively interested, even if such have not been directly inspired by Colvern themselves.

In view of the hot weather which we were having during at least the early run of the exhibition, Messrs. Wingrove & Rogers were fortunate in being able to show large representations of their famous trademark—the polar bear. It constituted such a marked contrast to the current thermometer readings that visitors looked, smiled, and—did not pass on; they were held by the fine display of Polar condensers.

Well-Made Transformers.

I was surprised by the size of the Slektun range of components. I of course, knew all about the very excellent Slektun L.F. transformers, and I had previously seen and admired a Slektun mains transformer. But I also learned that there are Slektun aerial and H.F. coils, Slektun H.F. chokes, and Slektun balanced-armature units. It is very obvious Slektun is forging ahead. R. & A. were exhibiting one of their popular moving-coil speakers in section, it had been cleanly cut-right in halves so that the moving coil itself could be seen snugly fitting into the gap between the magnetic pole-pieces.

Appreciated by All.

This is the kind of exhibit which all can appreciate, the constructor because he likes to know exactly what goes on inside things, and the ordinary listener as he can at least gain something of an idea of the internal construction of what are to him rather mysterious devices.

But it takes courage to throw open the very heart of your production for all and sundry to inspect at a technical exhibition where inevitably there will be hundreds of keen, qualified critics. And this reminds me that the criticism of members of the public appeared to be both keen and informed this year.

Of course, it was only occasionally that one overheard what could be styled "technical" questions, but the stand attendants were often called upon to deal with intelligent criticisms concerning the potentialities of the various receivers.

Band-Pass Tuning.

Marked technical differences between them were obviously widely appreciated. For example, I noticed that the Varley "Square-Peak" sets occasioned considerable interest, and visitors were wanting to know exactly what "Square-Peak" meant.

When they were informed it indicated a perfect application of the "band-pass" principle, they would pursue the matter further and ask questions about band-passing.

By the way, I should mention that I gathered most of the facts upon which I base the above conclusions on conversations in the general assembly. At the "P.W." stand there were callers who knew all about such things as band-passing, and who visited us to discuss radio matters rather than ask questions about it!

Mains Sets as Well!

I paid two visits to the Blue (Continued on next column.)

Here are lists of long-wave and short-wave stations which should be picked up by anyone in Hong Kong who has a moderately good set suitable for receiving such signals. Success in picking up these stations also depends very largely upon favourable atmospheric conditions. Readers are invited to add to this list should they succeed in picking up any station not included in either of these lists.

SHORT WAVE TELEPHONES

EXPERIMENTS ON 3 TO 10 METRES

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Sir Kingley Wood, the Postmaster-General, revealed yesterday that experiments to fit short radio waves into the telephone network had met with encouraging success. The experiments now being carried out in the Post Office Radio Dept. are in connection with the utilisation of very short radio waves in the region of three to ten metres wave-length. An endeavour is being made to ascertain if short radio waves could be fitted into the telephone network, and give a more direct and economic communication between places which now are only connected by an inconvenient cable circuit.

Spot stand: On the first occasion I spent most of the time examining the Blue Spot receivers, and was specially interested in their fine five-valve mains, operated outfit. But I subsequently realised that I had come away without inspecting their moving-coil loudspeakers. But I think you will agree that this was pardonable in view of the fact that I was suddenly button-holed by a man I hadn't seen for five years.

He had just come back from America and was full of praise for British radio!

It's Too Late Now!

THE charm of sound, white, natural teeth is lost to her.

In her childhood she disliked the hard foods that are so good for the teeth, and her parents indulged her.

Don't make the same mistake with your children. When the first, tiny tooth is due, give your baby 'Ovaltine Rusks' to bite and chew. They help the teeth to come easily through the gums and keep them strong and healthy.

Right through childhood 'Ovaltine' Rusks will give the biting exercise so essential to the correct formation of the mouth and the health of those first teeth upon which depend the correct spacing and soundness of those that follow.

'Ovaltine' Rusks are made from the purest wheaton flour with the addition of a proportion of 'Ovaltine,' giving them a delicious flavour and increasing their digestibility.

The "Freedom" of the Kitchen

Teach Your Child How To Cook

Some Of The Reasons WHY?

CHILDREN ENJOY DOING THINGS FOR THEMSELVES BETTER THAN ALMOST ANYTHING IN THE WORLD. EXCEPT PERHAPS KNOWING WHY THINGS HAPPEN AS THEY DO WHEN THEY DO THEM.

IT IS THIS SAME LAUDABLE AND INVALUABLE DESIRE FOR KNOWING THE WHYS OF THINGS AND FOR INDEPENDENT ACTION WHICH SO OFTEN EXHAUSTS THE BUSY PARENTS OF INQUIRING AND ENERGETIC OFFSPRING.

With cooking, as with other practical things, children, if given a chance, are also much more apt to assimilate first principles than is the average adult.

They always want to know the "why," and therefore learn many valuable lessons very thoroughly with out being conscious that they are learning at all.

POPULAR DISHES

Both grown-ups and children share the same desire to cook the kind of things they like eating best, when they desire to cook at all.

If, therefore, you wish to give children the freedom of the kitchen, the enthusiasm they bring to their concoctions will be at its maximum, and the number of errors at the minimum if you give them the ingredients and instructions for the dishes they enjoy best.

This is not always possible, at first, but can usually be led to, even if only in gradual degrees.

Cakes, puddings which look luscious even though their fabrication may be very simple, and attractive dishes of eggs and fish are the most popular culinary productions with the younger generation; just as the average Englishman, if persuaded that he can cook at all, is much happier to produce a perfect grill than an elaborate entrée or sweet.

Many children, of course, are fortunate in having excellent cooking tuition at school.

In this case their chief desire will probably be to produce the same things at home and independently as they did at school, under supervision. The parent who can afford to risk a few small disasters refrains from interfering at all on these occasions.

Falling a definite desire to make some particular dish, the simplest way for the adult to induce a small person's longing to help in the kitchen is to let him or her make a miniature version of what is being prepared at the moment on a larger scale.

Decorative saucers, tiny pie dishes and wineglasses of various sizes and shapes are useful here.

The more professional the appearance of the dish when finished the happier the young folk will be.

A complete little pie or omelette, a small cake which is the duplicate of its big brother, or little cakes in amusing shapes used for soup which contains a minute hotpot or casserole of fish, rabbit or meat with things like these the small person can learn the fundamental principles of cooking, and the equally noble art of serving food properly.

He, or she, will also obtain intense enjoyment from their ultimate consumption, whether this is personal or comes from watching an adult enjoy the finished article.

For example, if you are making a cake or a pudding you beat the eggs because you want the mixture of which they form part to be as light as possible. When you beat the eggs you let air into them, and air makes for lightness.

When you are making an omelette you don't beat the eggs at all, because you don't want the mixture to rise airily in the pan.

When you want to fry bacon you warm the frying pan first, because if you did not the rashes would be soft and flabby.

When you are going to roast a joint you see that the oven is really hot first in order to seal the joints, otherwise they would escape and a great deal of the flavour and goodness would vanish.

When you are going to grill meat you see that the grill is hot first for the same reason, and you take care that the meat is not more than two inches thick; otherwise the outside would be charred before was cooked.

When you poach eggs and they get broken it means that you have cooked them too quickly. The water has boiled too roughly and has torn the albumen, which is the part of the egg which sets when it is heated. But if poached eggs have been cooked too slowly they are also liable to break because the albumen has not had a chance to set properly at all.

If fried eggs have a thick brown skin outside it means that they have been cooked in too great heat and left in the hot fat too long.

When you are making plain scrambled eggs you add a little milk, but if you are scrambling eggs with tomatoes you leave out the milk because the acid in the tomato would curdle it.

If you are making an omelette or a pancake you cannot possibly be too careful about the cleanliness of the pan. Even the smallest speck of dirt that you cannot see is likely to make the mixture stick.

This is why good cooks usually melt a little fat in the pan and

CANDIED CREAM

Ingredients. — Three-quarters pint milk, quarter pint cream, two eggs, about four ounces granulated or castor sugar.

Instructions. — Put the cream and milk in a saucepan and bring almost to the boil, not quite. Beat the yolks of egg in a bowl, add the milk and cream mixture, beating all the time.

Pour it back into the saucepan until it is again nearly but not quite boiling. Put it in a pie dish or shallow fireproof and let it get cold.

Sprinkle it with sugar about a quarter of an inch thick. Place it under the very hot grill of the gas stove or heat an old shovel till red hot and hold it over the dish till the sugar sets like candy. Serve cold.

TOMATOES— RED And GREEN

SOME SIMPLE RECIPES

HOW MANY PEOPLE KNOW THAT TOMATOES, WHICH ARE NOW OFFICIALLY CLASSIFIED NOT EVEN AS FRUIT, BUT AS VEGETABLES, WERE ORIGINALLY GROWN WITH NO THOUGHT OF USING THEM FOR FOOD, BUT SIMPLY BECAUSE THEY WERE SO PLEASANT TO LOOK UPON!

Yet this was so not so many years ago, and then they were called not "tomatoes," but "love apples."

Let us hope this was simply because of their rosy, enchanting appearance and not because they only remain at their best for so short a time.

This is their only defect. There is all the difference in the world between a tomato that is firm and fresh and one that has become just a little bit blowy.

At this time of the year, also, when we cannot count upon sunshine, many gardeners find themselves left with green tomatoes that will not ripen.

But there are simple recipes for using either green tomatoes or those that are a little bit over-ripe, and I have picked out some of the simplest and easiest to make.

The baked tomatoes are particularly useful in a busy time or when unexpected guests arrive for a meal, for they can be arranged in a few minutes.

STUFFED TOMATOES

Ingredients.—Six tomatoes, one ounce butter, two tablespoons breadcrumbs, one shallot, three tablespoons cooked meat, pepper and salt.

Method.—Chop the shallot and mix the meat, crumbs, butter and seasoning together. Select tomatoes of good size and scoop out their centres. Rub these through a sieve into the other ingredients and warm over the fire. Then fill the tomatoes very carefully with it and sprinkle finely with finely chopped parsley. Place in a fireproof dish and bake for ten to fifteen minutes in a hot oven.

SERVED AS SOUP

Ingredients.—One pound ripe tomatoes, one onion, one carrot, one gill of milk, one quart of stock, one ounce seed tapioca, seasoning.

Method.—Simmer the tapioca slowly in the stock with the carrot, the onion, and the tomatoes, all cut small. Boil the whole to a pulp and season with salt and pepper. Boil for another ten minutes. Serve with fried croûtons of bread.

BAKED TOMATOES

TAKE six ripe tomatoes—these should be firm—and cut them into halves. Dress with a little pepper and salt and place in a buttered fireproof dish. Sprinkle some breadcrumbs over them and some small date of butter. Bake in a hot oven for about twenty minutes and serve.

GREEN TOMATOES JAM

Ingredients.—Four pounds of green tomatoes, three pounds of loaf sugar, one lemon (juice and grated rind).

Method.—Cut the tomatoes into quarters and place all the ingredients in an enamelled pan. Bring to the boil, stirring thoroughly all the time, and boil for an hour.

The tomatoes used must be very green, or the jam will have a bitter taste.

A GOOD CHUTNEY

Ingredients.—Five pounds green tomatoes, quarter ounce mustard seed, one and a half pints of best vinegar, one and a quarter pounds demerara sugar, one and a half pounds cooking apples, quarter pound salt, one pound onions, one level teaspoonful of ground ginger, cayenne pepper and salt.

Method.—Plunge the tomatoes into boiling water and then pull off the skins. Peel the apples and cut the tomatoes, apples, and onions into small pieces.

Butter the bottom of an enamel preserving pan, put in all the ingredients, and boil till as thick as jam, stirring occasionally. It takes a long time to cook—from 1½ to 2 hours. Pour into hot jars and tie down at once.

Shy Mr. Maxton is Embarrassed.

Mr. James Maxton, the Clyde-side M.P., has been asked to sit for his portrait by Sir John Lavery, noted for his paintings of beautiful women, and Mr. Maxton is not sure that he wants to be portrayed. "Sir John and I did have a talk about it some time ago, but I made no promises," said Mr. Maxton when interviewed. "You see, I've never had my portrait painted. I might not like it, or, which would be worse, I might not be a good sitter." He might make my to like myself. When he was told Sir John had described him as "the most remarkable man in the House of Commons," Mr. Maxton looked uncomfortable, and said, "That's only Sir John's little joke, but it's very kind of him."

Woman as Police Sergeant.

Scotland's first woman police sergeant will be appointed in Glasgow if a proposal by the Chief Constable is approved by the Secretary of State for Scotland. The Police Committee of Glasgow Corporation have already approved of the Chief Constable's recommendation, which is that a woman sergeant should be appointed at a wage ranging from £2 to £5 a week.

Women Motorists.

Lady Elibank will preside over the Women's Automobile Club dinner to be held in London on November 2 when Lord Wakefield will present the trophies won by women motorists during the year. These include awards open also to men drivers.

Glasgow Municipal Bank Urged. Recommendations to the General Finance Committee for the setting up of a municipal bank in the city of Glasgow are to be considered on October 28. They are: That the Corporation should establish a municipal company bank with a nominal capital, the shares to be held by members of the Corporation.

In Between!

You know that period of the year, both now and again in the Spring when our climate is uncertain. Some mornings and evenings are cold, but not cold enough to need an overcoat, yet an extra garment is needed.

For this "in-between" season a woolie, or pull-over, with or without sleeves, meets the requirement.

Made in Scotland of pure wool in a delightful range of colours and designs, and being "Scotch" Knit they are sturdily made to withstand hard wear. The very thing too, for wear after a strenuous round of Golf or a hard set of Tennis.

FIREMEN PAWN THEIR TROUSERS

TWO MEN WITH BAD RECORDS

Three Chinese firemen were charged before Mr. Wynne Jones yesterday with illegally pawning uniform trousers belonging to the Hong Kong Government.

Mr. J. C. Fitz-Henry, Acting Superintendent of the Fire Brigade, said that a surprise inspection of the men's uniforms was carried out on Tuesday morning and the three defendants were each found to be short of a pair of rough serge trousers. The men gave the excuse that the garments were being washed but having reason to disbelieve their story, Mr. Fitz-Henry had the men in his office and they finally admitted that the trousers had been pawned.

Mr. Fitz-Henry said that Chan Sing, first defendant, had a bad record. He had two incarcerations against him, one being departmental, while he was arrested and charged at the Kowloon Magistrate in September for bringing discredit on the Brigade by demanding money from a female in Temple Street. He was discharged owing to lack of evidence. He joined the Brigade in August 1931.

The second defendant, Lo Fuk, joined in February 1931 and had nine serious offences including one of inciting men to stop work in June 1932.

The third defendant, Nam Choi, joined in October 1930 but his record was not bad. It was considered that as he was implicated on the same charge as the other two he should be brought before the Court as well.

In the case of the first two defendants, who would be discharged from the Brigade, the prosecuting officer asked that his Worship inflict a punishment which would act as a deterrent to others.

The first two defendants were given six weeks' hard labour each while the third was fined $20 or one month.

STOWAWAYS

TWO FOUND ON THE "SANTHIA"

Two would-be stowaways were found by the Police on the s.s. Santhia on Tuesday and were charged by the Police before Mr. Butters at Kowloon Magistrate yesterday.

Inspector Elston said that a special hatch had to be opened in order to get them out. They confessed that they intended to go to Singapore. Fines of $50 or one month's hard labour were imposed on each of them.

In another case a similar sentence was passed on a Malay who was charged with stowing away from Batavia to Hong Kong on the Dutch steamer Tjisadana. Defendant was discovered on board after the ship had been one day out.

WE GANGSTERS: BY ONE OF THEM

"GUARDIANS OF AMERICAN LIBERTY"

Chicago gangsters are "the real guardians of American liberty and just a great big family"—says Mr. Jack Bilbo.

Mr. Bilbo, who is described as a bodyguard and lieutenant of "Scarface" Al Capone, has arrived in Paris, and in a quaint interview has put the French people right on their ideas of Chicago.

"You people over here think we gangsters are tough babies running around with guns in our hands," Mr. Bilbo is reported as declaring. "That's French baloney. Why, our work is political. We are really the guardians of American liberty. Americans want drink and we provide it for them."

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

$100,000 INVOLVED

WELL-KNOWN CHINESE BEFORE COURT

Charged with forging and uttering a document of power of attorney in Hong Kong, on or about December 3, and by its means allegedly securing the control and management of the King Fook Wo firm of 66, Bonham Strand East, and embezzling monies and property to the value of over $100,000, Chan Sik Nin alias Chan Hing Kan appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon.

Mr. F. X. d'Almeida appeared for the prosecution.

Owing to a misunderstanding, Mr. Hin Shing Lo, counsel for the defence was not present when the case came up on remand yesterday morning, and after several attempts to get into touch with him had failed, the Magistrate adjourned the hearing of the case until 2.30 in the afternoon.

When the hearing was resumed the session was occupied by Mr. Lo's opening address for the defence after which the hearing was adjourned.

The complainant partners in the King Fook Wo firm, trading in Hong Kong and Indo-China are Chan Wai Song, Chan Ping Cheung, and Chan Tam Chi alias Chan Fook Han Tong.

An interesting development has been the surrender of another official of the firm, Chang Hang Po, who until two years ago, had been the manager, and who is being charged with the misappropriation of $7,000.

WHAT A WOMAN'S BAG HOLDS

AND WHAT A MAN CARRIES IN HIS 13 POCKETS

Ever wondered (if you are a man) what a woman carries in her hand-bag?

A woman has given the secret away in a letter to a newspaper editor. She wrote:—

"I turned my bag upside down, and out of it fell a cigarette-case, match-box, engagement-book, note-book, cheque-book, time-table, card-case, packet of postcards, notecase, comb, bottle of eau de Cologne, bunch of keys, fountain-pen, pencil, tube of face cream, powder-case, lip-stick, mirror, handkerchief, aspirin, and, of course, some silver and copper coins."

"All indispensable."

She terms these things "all quite indispensable to the modern woman."

"Ever wondered (if you are a woman) what the average man carries in his 13 pockets (4 trousers, 2 waistcoat, 5 jackets)? Let an average man turn out his pockets and see. Here goes:—

"Handkerchief, pocket-book, pipe, tobacco, cigarette, matches, knife, pen, pencil, cheque-book, car licence, silver, coppers, pins."

"Oh! Not quite. Letter marked 'O.H.M.S.' and beginning 'Dear Sir, Referring to my previous application for payment of the under-mentioned:—" same thing at me, but in general we are just a great big family. "Like all families we row a little now and then."

And Mr. Bilbo should know, for, besides being a gangster, he is the author of two books entitled "Memoirs of a Gangster" and "Chicago-Shanghai."

ANTI-JAPANESE BOYCOTT

PICKET ARRESTED FOR EXTORTION

(From Our Special Correspondent)

CANTON, Nov. 16.

A picket of the local anti-Japanese Boycott Association has been arrested and detained by the society facing a grave charge of making extortions of money from merchants.

It appears that at the beginning of the month, a local firm had a big consignment of thermos flasks from Hong Kong. The consignment was seized by the anti-Japanese Association and the case was being investigated.

Li Lai Sang, one of the society's pickets, evidently thought that it was an opportune time to make a little money. He presented himself before the consignees, and offered to get the matter fixed up for a consideration of $500, which, he explained, would be divided among several of the society's officials, who would immediately order the release of the flasks.

But he had not figured out the fact that the firm involved would have the case settled in their favour, for the flasks were not Japanese goods and were therefore wrongly seized. A report was accordingly made to the society, and a trap laid for the extortioner, who, on calling at a prearranged hotel to receive a first payment of "gift" money, was arrested after a quantity of marked bank-notes had been passed to him.

The case is under full investigation by the anti-Japanese Society as many other officials are reported to be involved. In this connection, it will be recalled that some time (Continued on next column.)

CANTON AVIATION PREMIUM BONDS

DRAWING OF PRIZES COMPLETED

(From Our Special Correspondent)

CANTON, Nov. 16.

The drawing of prizes in connection with the Government issue of Aviation Bonds has been completed at the local Chamber of Commerce in the presence of Government supervisors, and numbers of the winning tickets have been published.

The issue of these bonds is intended to raise funds for the development of the local Air Force, 40 per cent. of the money subscribed being laid aside for prizes. Bonds to the value of $5,000,000 were issued, and if fully taken up, the drawer of the first prize was to receive $500,000. But only about $800,000 worth of these bonds have been subscribed for, despite several postponements being made to the date for the prize-drawing.

It is understood that the authorities will continue to make further issues of these bonds, which are really in the nature of lotteries, until such amounts are realised as required for their present plans for the enlargement of the city's air force.

ago, another high official of the society, Pang Kok Sang, was arrested for receiving a bribe for passing a quantity of Japanese goods. He is still under detention, and though subjected to many "trials," has not yet received a definite "sentence."

"MACAO GOVT'S HIGH HANDED ACTION"

WITH WANG CHEN VILLAGE INCIDENT

(Central Press)

Canton, Nov. 16.—The National Government is urged to take immediate steps to settle the Wang Chien village incident whereby an official surveyor of the Chungshan district government was detained by the Portuguese authorities in Macao, according to a telegram dispatched to Nanking by the Southwest Provinces People's Foreign Affairs Association made public to-day.

The telegram recalls that the Chungshan district government sent a surveyor to ascertain the boundary limits of Wang Chien village and places bordering on Macao in view of frequent attempts by the Portuguese Government to occupy that village. Without justification the surveyor was arrested by the authorities in Macao and placed aboard a Portuguese gunboat to be tried by court martial. At the same time Mr. Tang Shao Yi, the magistrate of Chungshan, was asked to be present at the court martial, the telegram continued, but Mr. Tang refused to proceed with the result that the surveyor was eventually released.

In an indignant vein, the telegram says that "Wang Chien village is within the boundary of the Chungshan district. Since it is Chinese territory, no foreign country should be allowed to occupy it. The Macao Government committed a gross outrage by arresting the surveyor, and if no effort is made to check this encroachment, future dangers are beyond contemplation."

The Foreign Affairs Association strongly implored the National Government through the Ministry of Foreign Affairs to uphold Chinese territorial integrity by settling the incident as soon as possible.

Other public bodies here strongly resent the high handed action of the Macao Government and are likewise asking the Nanking Government to take positive action regarding this attempted usurpation of Chinese territory.

PUBLIC MONEY
VOTESTOTAL OF $134,174 BEFORE
FINANCE COMMITTEE

BIG ITEM FOR WATER WORKS

Votes totalling $134,174 were approved by the finance committee of the Legislative Council yesterday, over which the Hon. Mr. E. R. Hallifax, Colonial Secretary, presided.

Of the total, several very big items, amounting to $67,000, were in connection with water works.

Beside the chairman, there were present, Hon. Mr. Edwin Taylor, Colonial Treasurer, Hon. Mr. B. M. Henderson, Director of Public Works, Sir Henry Pollock, Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, Hon. Mr. E. H. Kotswall, Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga, Hon. Mr. J. Paterson, Hon. Mr. W. H. Bell, Hon. Mr. T. N. Chan and Mr. R. A. C. North, Clerk of Councils.

Details of the items making up the $134,174 will be found below. Only one item, that for $50,000 provoked any comment. The Hon. Mr. Braga asked for information as regards a statement in the explanatory notes where it was stated that the price of coal for 1932 was $3 per ton more than in 1931. Mr. Braga asked if the Government was aware that in the latter part of 1932 the price of coal has dropped considerably—about 20 per cent on the price of 1931.

The Chairman explained that the coal for the whole year was tendered for in 1931.

Mr. Braga pointed out that the drop in price at present would no doubt be availed of when calling for tenders for 1933. He asked if the Government contracted for all its supply through one source, or whether each department had its own contract?

The Chairman replied that the Kowloon Canton Railway had a separate contract, otherwise there was only one contract.

Mr. Braga:—If you are not quite sure of the price of coal when you close your contract, might it not be wise to consider it now?

Hon. Mr. Taylor:—We cannot consider it unless we consider the tenders. Tenders have been asked for and particulars have been published in the Gazette, and falls due this Friday.

The details of the various items which were approved are as follows:—

Harbour Department and Air Services: Special Expenditure, Ships' particulars supplied by Board of Trade, London $374

At the request of the Hong Kong Government, the Board of Trade, London, have supplied certain particulars in respect of certain vessels for which Class IA Passenger Certificates are being taken out in this Colony.

Police Force:—Burial of Destitute Dead $200

Owing to recent heavy charges the amount of $300 provided in the Estimates is exhausted and a supplementary vote of $200 to cover expenditure to the end of the year is requested.

Police Force: Rewards $600

The amount provided in Estimates has proved insufficient owing to the increase in the number of rewards necessary. The additional sum now requested is to cover the period October/December 1932.

Supreme Court:—Fees to Counsel and Solicitors in Capital Cases $800

Counsel and Solicitors fees in the cases Rex v. Cheung Man and others—Murder, and Rex v. Li Kap Ting—Murder, amounted to $1,030 and as the balance on this sub-head only amounts to $100 a supplementary vote of $930 is requested.

Harbour Department:—Electric Pans and Light $200

Education Department:—Students in Training—Fees $100

The charge made by the University under "Fees" is $415 for students appointed before 1.1.31 and $515 for those appointed on that date or thereafter.

A vacancy for which provision had been made at $415 was filled in January of the present year and a vote is now requested to provide the additional $100 required.

Public Works Department:—Drawing Materials and Mounting Plans $3,000

The vote has become exhausted on account of the continued heavy demand for plans and leases, etc. on behalf of this and other departments, and the public. Approximately 20 per cent. of the amount expended is recoverable from the sale of plans, etc.

The additional sum of $3,000 now requested is required to defray cost of materials to the end of the year.

Public Works Recurrent:—Hong Kong, Dredging Foreshores $9,000

More dredging has been undertaken this year than formerly; the average monthly expenditure for this service amounts to approximately $2,200. To enable the two grab dredgers to be fully employed and also to provide for their annual overhaul at a cost of $9,800, a supplementary vote of $9,000 is requested.

Public Works Extraordinary:—Construction of rubble mound at North Point $5,000

Owing to the rapid expansion of the reclamation due to the dumping of building debris it is necessary to undertake this year more protective work than was anticipated.

It is estimated that the advancement of this work will require a further $5,000 and a supplementary vote for this amount is accordingly requested.

Public Works Department:—Wireless Telegraphic Instruments and Accessories $27,000

At the time when 1932 Estimates were prepared the necessity was foreseen for considerable expenditure on extensions and equipment of Wireless Services in the Colony. It appeared, however, at that time that it might be possible to avoid expenditure from local funds, but on return from leave the Electrical Engineer advised the immediate purchase of additional receiving and transmitting instruments and accessories in order to deal with the growing traffic.

Finance Committee gave its approval to the purchase of a portion of this apparatus to the extent of $216 on December 10, 1931. The balance is required for eighteen short wave receivers, cable and accessories.

Public Works Recurrent:—Typhoon and Rain-storm Damages $12,000

To meet the cost of making good damages to buildings, piers, sea-walls, roads and bridges, drainage and water services following the heavy rains during July, August and September, a supplementary vote in aid is required.

Public Works Recurrent:—Typhoon and Rain-storm Damages $500

To meet the cost of making good damages to buildings, piers, sea-walls, roads and bridges, drainage and water services following the heavy rains during July, August and September, a supplementary vote of $500 is required.

$50,000 for Waterworks.

Public Works Recurrent:—Water Works—Maintenance of City and Hill District $50,000

Principally on account of the financial situation the maintenance vote was reduced from $270,000 in 1929 to $250,000 in the current year. During this period, however, large new works including the Aberdeen undertaking have been added to the system without additional provision being made in the approved Estimates to meet upkeep and running charges.

A considerable portion of the mains system is old and more funds are necessary to meet the cost of maintenance and renewals, which have been considerably slowed up on account of financial difficulties. Repairs and renewals cannot, however, be deferred indefinitely without serious interruption of services, and for this reason increased funds are necessary. A heavy item of expenditure this year has been on account of fuel—the price of coal for 1932 is $3 per ton more than in 1931—and as the consumption averages 6,000 tons per annum this represents an increase in expenditure of no less than $18,000.

With the rapid expansion of water works undertakings more funds are necessary for maintenance.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS
CALENDARFOURTEEN CASE TO COME
BEFORE THE JUDGES

Fourteen cases are on the list of the November Criminal Sessions. One of the most important, which is to come before the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph Kemp) in which Herbert Waller is charged with obtaining a bribe while employed as a public servant.

The cases which will appear before the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice Wood) are as follows:—Tang Fai-ah Chan Po, breach of deportation order; Tang Yun Chiu, Cheung Wai Lin and Li Tang, robbery by two or more; Chung Tak Fong, Wong Hing, Li Po, Yeung Lam Cheung, Win alias Cheung Chung, and Chiu Fuk alias Chiu Wan, breach of deportation order; Chan Sang, larceny (3 charges); Tsang Kau, receiving stolen goods (3 charges) and larceny (3 charges); Sin Kau Cheuk, robbery by two or more; Chiu Fuk and Chung Yee, robbery by two or more; and Au Yeung Shing and Tso Tan Ko, assault by two or more with intent to rob.

and, etc., and it is estimated that an additional sum of $50,000 in aid of the vote will be required to meet charges till the end of the year and a supplementary vote for this amount is accordingly requested.

Public Works Recurrent:—Water Works—Maintenance of Village Supplies $2,000

Heavy repairs which were unforeseen had to be undertaken in the replacement of main services at Aberdeen and Apichau at a cost of $2,000 and a supplementary vote for this amount is accordingly requested.

Sanitary Department:—25 Scavenging Gear $600

The deficiency in this vote is due to the difference between the estimated and actual contract price of bamboo brooms.

Public Works Recurrent:—Kowloon, Maintenance of Water Works $15,000

The provision made in the Estimates is insufficient to meet the anticipated expenditure for maintenance of water works in Kowloon to the end of the year.

The increased expenditure is principally due to the expansion of the distribution services, consequent upon the rapid development of the Kowloon Peninsula, to the increased cost for filtration and chlorination and to the maintenance charges on the recent large additions to the water works reservoirs and plant.

Sanitary Department:—Animal Depots and Slaughter-houses:—Incidental Expenses $300

The deficiency in this vote is the result of the increased use of ammunition owing to the larger number of animals shot, the additional ammunition having to be purchased in the local market at greatly increased cost. A supplementary vote for $300 is requested.

Sanitary Department:—Animal Depots and Slaughter-houses:—Motor Vans: Running Expenses $2,000

The deficit is partly caused by the exceptional number of cord tyres which have fallen due for replacement during the current year and partly to an extended programme of overhauls which has been undertaken.

Public Works Recurrent:—Maintenance of Praya Wall and Piers $3,000

Extensive repairs costing $2,846 were found necessary to the roofs of Blake Pier and Queen's Pier. As this expenditure was unforeseen the balance available on the vote is insufficient to meet maintenance work in hand, and a supplementary vote for $3,000 is accordingly requested.

Summary Court:—Watchmen 1,200

Owing to the large increase this year in the number of Districts and Executions requiring employment of a greater number of extra watchmen the above provision is insufficient and a supplementary vote for $1,200 is requested.

The revenue derived from this service increases proportionately.

Sanitary Department:—Light $1,200

The deficiency in this vote is due to the greater amount of electricity consumed in the New Street Market (which was opened in May this year) than in the old market which it superseded. The increase could not be calculated when the 1932 estimates were framed.

RADIOS AND REFRIGERATORS

EXHIBITION OPENED

"DR. RADIO'S" SPEECH

Although a slight shower of rain interfered with the arrangements during the early part of the morning, the Radio and Refrigerator Exhibition at the Gloucester Building yesterday, drew a continuous stream of interested visitors throughout the day.

Exhibition Opened.

The display was officially opened by the grotesque figure of "Dr. Radio," who, in delivering the opening address from the main lobby said:—Unaccustomed as I am to public speaking, nevertheless I have been asked to open this exhibition, an honour which I can assure you I much appreciate. I believe this is the first combined Radio and Refrigerator Exhibition to be held in Hong Kong and it all depends upon the support that it receives whether this exhibition becomes a hardy perennial or whether like the old soldier it merely fades away. To-day in a space of a few minutes and in the most pleasant surroundings (the Bar is on your left) you can see before you an array of Radios and Refrigerators that would be hard to beat.

Radio Research Work.

Here you will find the cream of Radio Research Work at your finger tips. Just take a look around and see for yourselves. For the affluent in search of the best that money can buy you will find Radio Models De Luxe—they look good and they really are good. For the man of moderate means, a man who means to get the best but intends to pay the minimum, there are plenty of low priced Radios that will give most excellent results and only cost from $100 to $200.

It is hoped, atmospherics permitting, to give you some demonstration on the short-wave lengths from 7 o'clock onwards. During the day-time long wave demonstrations will be given by the exhibitors commencing with Radio Services Ltd., and followed by Messrs. Moutrier at 12.20.

Refrigeration.

For those of you interested in refrigeration you will find in the reading room a very interesting display of the latest type of refrigerators which I am sure will do as much if not more than is claimed for them. If you have any doubts on the matter bring a piece of meat along and try for yourselves. In conclusion I would like to thank the manager of the Gloucester Building for allowing us the use of the eighth floor, the Broadcasting Committee in putting on a continuous programme during the Exhibition, the Clerk of the Weather for refraining, up to the present at any rate, from giving us a shower bath, and last but not least the public for their support without which the exhibition would be useless.

Each of the individual stands was well displayed the various exhibiting firms and their products being as follows:

General Electric Company of China; Geophone radio receivers and loud speakers; Gram valves. A.W.V. Turner and Co.; Kolster radio receivers; Long and short wave combinations. Shawan, Tomes and Co., Ltd.; Electrolux British refrigerators, utilising either kerosene, electricity or gas to give ice. Water and air cooled types Gibson American motor type refrigerators. Reiss, Massey and Co. Ltd.; Westinghouse refrigerators.

Anderson, Meyer and Co. Ltd.; General Electric Refrigerators; Telechron clocks, models ranging from the small bedroom type to that installed in the tower of the Gloucester Building.

Reiss, Massey and Co., Ltd.; Westinghouse receivers. Radio Services Ltd.; Portable military transmitting units, which are cranked by hand, McMichael and Westinghouse long and short wave receivers. Stewart-Warner receivers.

Rudolf, Wolff, and Kew; Electrolux, Matheson, Bell and Lotus receivers.

Electric Service Corporation; Effective display of every type of Majestic receiver, from the large 12 valve radiogram combination to (Continued at foot of next column)

PENINSULA HOTEL
GALASPECIAL ATTRACTIONS ON SATURDAY

There is to be a Gala Night Dinner Dance in the Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel on Saturday, November 19, when two special attractions will be included in the evening's entertainment.

Featuring in an adieu the accomplished Ball-room Artists, Hugo and Josephine, who have during the past six weeks delighted audiences with their exceedingly clever dancing displays, will present further attractive numbers from their popular repertoire. This will be the final occasion to witness the abilities of these performers and their admirers should not miss the opportunity.

To appear for the first time in Hong Kong, and hailing from the Canidrome in Shanghai are two charming Australian girl artistes, the sisters Misses Layne and Mario Maye, who have scored a big success with the Shanghai public. Both sing in a highly pleasing manner and are unusually adept at dancing besides possessing an extraordinary gift of clever and amusing patter. In short they are reputed to be Sensational Australian Song and Dance Artistes in an entirely new repertoire.

The Management of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., have secured the engagement for a season of the talented sisters and their performance should prove a good drawing card for the popular Rose Room of the Peninsula Hotel. Anticipating a bumper attendance for the first night it is desirable to effect prompt reservation of tables to avoid disappointment.

Subject to permission yet to be obtained, the Rose Room will remain open for after dinner dancing until 1 o'clock a.m.

RUMOURS OF MORE WAR

Among all the changes, eliminations and realignments of the Chinese political game the one immutable factor remains the alliance between CHIANG KAI SHEK and CHANG HUEI LIANG. This coalition has been severely tested, and for months after the loss of Mukden and the retreat of the Fengtien Army within the Great Wall, patriotic China exonerated the name of the Young Marshal, demanding his dismissal and punishment. CHANG HUEI LIANG made a pretence of bowing to the storm and sent in his resignation, with the correct admission of his deficiencies and saying that he hoped to better himself by a long period of foreign travel and study. No one took this seriously, and time passed but the Young Marshal did not go. Now, as might be expected, the storm has blown itself out and it appears that the former dictator of Manchuria is to be formally placed in charge of affairs in the North, which he has actually controlled since the rout of the Kuomintang forces in 1930.

CHANG's asset is a large and well equipped army, and as long as this remains faithful and unbeaten there is no reason why its commander, and owner, should not maintain his position in Chinese affairs. The Japanese declare that CHANG HUEI LIANG is the main-spring of the resistance to Manchukuo, and that both Volunteers and bandits are equipped and offered by the Young Marshal, who still hopes to regain his patrimony. If that is the case sufficient reason is provided for the partial subsidence of national indignation against "the traitor of Mukden."

Meanwhile another storm appears to be brewing against CHIANG KAI SHEK, his old enemies FENG YU HSIANG and YAN HSI SHAN having been joined, according to reports, on steadily towards his objective.

by HAN FU CHU and LI TSAI HSIEN. Of these only HAN FU CHU is directly formidable. The Shantung Governor is a former subordinate of FENG FU HSIANG and a bond still exists between the two. But both FENG and YEN were really wiped off the map by their defeat in 1930, and Chinese War Lords, once eliminated seldom come back. FENG himself, achieved, after his return from Moscow, the seemingly impossible, but for two years now he and YEN have held onto the edge of the circle, much as Wu Pei Fu did after his defeat by CHIANG KAI SHEK in 1928, and SUN CHUAN FANG after the loss of Shanghai to the Nationalists. SUN seemed to have an amazing power of re-appearing at the head of "a large army," but the said army was always beaten, and SUN has for years been out of the picture and almost forgotten. FENG is sometimes credited with having gathered a strong army round himself, secretly, but for over two years he has ceased to be an important factor.

The reported adhesion of LI TSAI HSIEN to the Anti-CHIANG coalition is interesting only in how far it suggests that other members of the Kwangsi Clique are involved, and whether they carry with them General CHEN TSAI TONG, of Canton. The alliance of the Kwangtung and Kwangsi leaders is to the South of China what the CHIANG-CHIANG coalition is to the North. The great question is whether this move presages a further break between Canton and Nanking, and whether such a break is likely to involve hostilities or merely a further stage in the split up of the Chinese Republic. CHIANG KAI SHEK's reported intention personally to conduct the anti-Red campaign in Kiangsi is significant, and may be taken as a hint to the South.

It is an odd time to talk of civil war, with the country still distressed by floods and famines; with large areas held by bandits and Communists, while up in the North the adversary from overseas pushes on steadily towards his objective. However, one must assume that Chinese War Lords know their own business best.

Not Satisfied.

"Do you ever sweep under the carpet, Mary?"
"Yes Ma'am, everything."

Try Again!

"Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" they asked a man charged at Tottenham Police Court.
"Well," he replied, "I have been here four times before, and each time I have pleaded not guilty, and each time I have been fined. So I'll plead guilty this time."
He was fined again!

First Catch Your Hare.

A Californian naturalist has discovered that sunshine is deadly to rattlesnakes. He has killed several "simply by forcing them to remain stretched out in the sunshine." It may not be generally known that if a man simply holds an elephant's head under water for a few hours the beast is bound to die.

The Ideal Car.

The man who invites people to buy a car at £7,000 in these hard times provides a new definition of an optimist. The car is described as the dream of all owner-drivers. Dream it may well remain, for the ordinary owner-driver could neither buy the car, pay the tax on its 78 horse power, nor drive it with safety to himself or the public.

Maxton in Oils.

Sir John Lavery is hoping to paint a picture of Mr. Maxton in the near future. Sir John has always been attracted by picturesque personalities, and "Jimmy" in particular appeals to him. The artist is having to be content watching Mr. Maxton as he speaks on the platform; left-wing politics allow no time for sittings, it seems.

The King's Coffer.

A good story—without guarantee of authenticity—worth quoting for its Scottish flavour. Its author says that the King likes his hunting shoes "gray," and often wears them at Balmoral to the patching stage. He has them made in the Highlands, and "when he needs a new pair mounts his pony, rides into Ballater, and orders them from an old Scot, who says:—'Well, I'll do my best for your Majesty, but I'm making no promises, mind.'"

Cheerful Mr. Thomas.

A friend who returned from Canada in the Empress of Britain with the British delegates from Ottawa sends some notes about prominent personalities. Of Mr. Thomas he writes: "J.H. is the social success of the ship. Plays deck tennis better than anyone else on board. They say he has made enough at bridge since he sailed for Ottawa to cancel every war debt in existence. Promenade deck littered with dropped nitches; bless him!"

1,000 ft. Fall.

An opossum has leaped from an aeroplane 1,000 feet up without hurting itself or the young it was carrying in its pouch, says a correspondent from Masterton, New Zealand.

The pilot saw the head of an animal appear above the front cockpit and two bright eyes fastened upon him. The animal began to approach the pilot along the top of the fuselage, but he waved his arm vigorously to prevent it entering his own cockpit.

Becoming frightened, the opossum made a frantic leap for the lower wing of the aeroplane. But the rush of air swept it into space.

A farmer watching an aeroplane saw something falling from it. Thinking it was a scarf, he went to where it fell to pick it up. But as he approached the "scarf" sprang into action and disappeared up a tree—it was the opossum.

"Sky Pilot" at 63.

The "Sky pilot of the Midlands," who has accomplished more than 100 solo flights, told a reporter how he has come to indulge in more flying than any clergyman in England. He is the Rev. John Pydoke, the 63-year-old rector of the village of Plesley, a few miles from Nottingham, and he has a flying wife as well. The rector and his wife celebrated their silver wedding by passing the pilot test at Tollerton a little over a year ago. "I took to flying," he said, "because I thought it would be great fun—and I have found it just that. Golf is a little too strenuous for me at my age. I had a 10 handicap a few years ago, but an old man like me is not much good at golf. Hunting does not appeal to me. I do not fancy myself in the saddle at 63. But flying—I find I am just young enough for that."

The Queen's Old Gloves.

The prudent lady never throws out gloves which have gone beyond their normal use. They are called into requisition for household duties, for gardening, and for motor driving. The Queen, who is an inveterate collector of antiques, always carries with her a pair of old gloves when she is on a shopping expedition—the better to facilitate her rummaging among the necessarily dusty stock of those antique dealers whose show-rooms she visits periodically in London and elsewhere.

Prince Consort.

Lord Ernle, who was 81 last month, has numerous claims to distinction. But perhaps the least known of his achievements was hitting the Prince Consort. Repairs were in progress on the church of the village where he spent his boyhood, and one day he saw the architect, whom he disliked, standing with another gentleman on the scaffolding. With a new catapult he had his aim at the seat of the architect's trousers, but struck the other gentleman in the same region! It was the Prince Consort! This misguided marksmanship earned thrashing and early bed for the young catapultist.

The Shah's Gesture.

The failure of a bogus Sultan to get into Olympia last month is probably the death-rattle of practical joking in England. Since Mr. Horace Cole "retired" and the practice has languished, and this attempt to revive it was a feeble imitation of more elaborate feats. The most simple and effective practical joke was perpetrated by the mayor of a Northern town on the old Shah of Persia during that autocrat's visit to England, says an English paper. While driving with the mayor the Shah noticed a small boy in the crowd who saluted him by extending his ten fingers from his nose. The Shah was told by the frustrated mayor that such was the most friendly and affectionate form of greeting used by the English. The incident was forgotten until the Shah's train was drawing out of the station, when he suddenly leaned out of the window, and with a flourish repeated the small boy's gesture to the assembled mayor and corporation. The story is also told of Li Hung Chang and other celebrities noted for extreme dignity of bearing.

PROPOSAL FOR DUMMY BATTLE-SHIPS

GUNS THAT WOULD NOT FIRE

Ships of the British Navy at sea with guns that could not fire. This amazing proposal was made by the Treasury on the grounds of economy—and the ships to which the "economy" was to apply were the Nelson and Rodney, both of 33,000 tons, the greatest battleships afloat.

Exactly how the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury endeavoured to make dummies of British warships is revealed in the minutes of evidence taken before a Select Committee of Public Accounts which are now on sale in Blue Book form at the Stationery Office. The disclosures refer to a period in 1930, when the Socialist Government was in power.

What happened then was a difference of opinion between the Admiralty and the Treasury over expenditure on director equipment for firing, a part of the armament of the vessels in question.

The Treasury took the view, said for Sir Oswyn A. B. Murray, Permanent Secretary to the Admiralty, in his evidence before the select committee, "that as nobody expected there was going to be a war for over so many years, it did not matter whether the guns in the ships were able to be fired or not. The Admiralty were unable to take that view. They felt, and always have felt, that there are some things which a ship must have and be able to use when she goes to sea."

"A new ship must have her guns; she must have her ammunition; she must have her torpedoes. That is a doctrine which I am sure the Admiralty will never depart from."

"They feel that if they once gave way to this heresy—that it did not matter whether the guns could fire or not—we should very soon have nothing but a dummy fleet at sea."

For Fire Against Aircraft.

Whether the Treasury phrased its letter in this case very happily I am not quite sure, stated Mr. R. A. Grieve, an assistant secretary to the Treasury, when asked his explanation by Mr. Morgan Jones, the chairman of the committee. Mr. Grieve, in another part of his explanation, declared: "I certainly do not wish to advance the heresy that it does not matter whether a ship goes to sea with its range-finding instruments in order or not, because I do not hold that heresy, nor does the Treasury."

A full account of the quarrel over expenditure was given by Sir Oswyn Murray.

The Admiralty's intention was to use certain guns in new ships for high-angle fire against aircraft as well as for low-angle purposes, but in order to make the guns serve both purposes it was necessary to design a new and very elaborate type of director fire equipment. Experimental work was begun with the object of designing instruments for the dual purpose which would be one hundred per cent. accurate.

"After working on these instruments," said Sir Oswyn Murray, "altering them and re-designing them for three years, we found that we got less than perfection."

"In the meantime the ships were waiting to have something put into them, because their guns were useless unless they had some sort of equipment put in. Therefore, it was thought indispensable to put in the equipment with the amount of accuracy, and the amount of efficiency, that we had been able to reach, rather than send these, our newest ships, to sea with the knowledge that certain of their guns were simply dummy guns and could not be fired."

Then it was that the Treasury took exception to the expenditure on partly perfected equipment, and made the suggestion that "it did not matter whether the guns in the ships could be fired or not."

SONS' SPIRITS SPIED ON HUSBAND

COUPLE SEPARATE AFTER FORTY YEARS

Taigamouth (S. Devon).—A woman spiritualist was separated from her husband at the police court here after 40 years of married life, because, she said, spirit messages from her two sons who were killed in the war, told her they had seen her husband "carrying on" with another woman.

The wife applied for a separation on the grounds of desertion, and the order was granted. The man alleged that his wife had not spoken to him unless she could not avoid it, and that for years they had their meals in separate rooms.

He was prepared to submit to the order, he said, and came to court only to prevent any misunderstanding as to why he left his wife.

A banished, who had seven previous convictions on his record, was brought before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy on a charge of returning from banishment. He was committed to the December Criminal Sessions.

The M.O.H. report for last week states that there were 6 cases (3 deaths) of diphtheria; 1 case (1 death) of enteric fever; 1 case of typhoid; 1 case of meningitis. Deaths from consumption totalled 57. On Tuesday one case of enteric and one of puerperal fever were reported.

Ten months' hard labour and twenty strokes of the birch was the sentence passed by Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy on a sampan woman who was charged with stealing a handbag from a girl of 9 in Nathan Road on the night of November 14. It was alleged that the defendant seized the girl by the throat while she was walking with her sister, and that she used such violence that marks were left on the girl's throat.

Sentence of six months' hard labour was passed by Mr. Wynne Jones on a Chinese bag snatcher who was arrested following an incident in Queen's Road Central, in which he snatched a bag from a Chinese woman, after pushing her over. The man was chased and arrested by two men, one employed at the Central Police Station and one at the Yau-mai Police Station. Both these boys were congratulated by Mr. Wynne Jones upon their effort.

Looking Back 25 Years.

The captain of the S. S. Paul Beau appeared before Mr. F. A. Hazenland at the Police Court yesterday charged with refusing to pay his tram fare. The defendant's story was that he boarded a car and tendered a twenty-cent piece in payment of his fare receiving a spurious ten-cent piece change. Later he boarded another car at Observation Place and when the conductor called for the fare he tendered this ten cents. The conductor refused to take it, and the captain had no other money in his possession. He was, however, well known to the tram conductors as he travelled on the trams about four times a day.

Mr. Course, the traffic superintendent, informed his Worship that of late the Company was getting a great many of these cases. His Worship told the defendant that he must always pay in future, and discharged him with a caution. Hong Kong Daily Press, November 17, 1932.

Looking Back 50 Years.

There are, we believe, among Chinese officials some who advocate the unrestrained cultivation of the poppy, and others who would fain see its growth altogether prohibited. Several high mandarins have at various times memorialised the Throne to put a stop to the production of opium in China, and the request has called forth more than one Imperial Decree on the subject, which decrees have invariably proved impotent and useless as deterrents. The poppy has never been so widely grown in the Celestial Empire as it is at present. There are, as a correspondent of our Shanghai morning contemporary points out, many reasons connected with this result. In the first case—and what better reason could a Chinese have?—it pays. PRIME MINISTER
ON OTTAWACRUSHING REJOINDER TO
SAMUEL LIBERALS

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, October 19.—The Prime Minister who had a remarkable ovation in the House of Commons after he had spoken on the Ottawa debate, gave a crushing rejoinder to the Samuel Liberals and the Socialists, and declared that "not a single pledge given by any responsible member of the National Government had been broken at Ottawa."

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, opening the debate, made the following points: "The success of the Ottawa Conference, if it results in increased prosperity for a united British Empire, is the largest contribution which the Empire can make towards the restoration of the prosperity of the world. I am confident that what was begun at Ottawa will in future bring even greater benefit to the agricultural community of this country than in our industrial community."

Mr. J. H. Thomas also made the important announcement that: "Arising out of the Ottawa agreement with Canada, notice has been given by Britain to terminate the trade agreement with Russia."

It was further announced that the British Government has extended invitations to the Danish, Norwegian and Swedish Government to open conversations in London on tariff matters. Norway and Denmark have already accepted and conversations are also continuing on the same subject with the Argentine Government.

INCREASE IN
"DOLE"DEMANDED BY MR.
MAXTON

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Oct. 21.—Replying to a discussion on the unemployed disturbances which took place in London on Oct. 19 the Prime Minister stated that very quickly a statement would be made on the means test. Sir John Gilmour informed the House that the rioting was premeditated, and that Moscow influences were rife in the National Unemployed Workers' Movement. When the Minister of Labour, Sir Henry Betterton, announced that the operation of the means test is expected to result in a saving of £8,000,000 during the current financial year, Mr. Maxton immediately rose to ask if the Minister intended to increase unemployment benefit in proportion to the rise in prices in recent months. Sir Henry replied that the cost-of-living index figures for each month of the year had been lower than those for the corresponding months of last year, and still lower than in previous years.

PAGEANTRYAT ROYAL WEDDING

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Oct. 21.—Amid scenes reminiscent of the Middle Ages, Princess Sibylla of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, a great granddaughter of Queen Victoria, was married to Prince Gustaf Adolf, on Oct. 20.

Prince Gustaf Adolf is the eldest son of the Crown Prince of Sweden. 67 European royals attended the ceremony in the ancient parish church of St. Moritz, Coburg, where the bride, in cream crepe satin, with a diamond tiara, and carrying a bouquet of white roses, stood before the altar. Her train was embroidered with silver. The bridegroom wore the uniform of the Stockholm Regiment of Guards. Near the altar were the ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Earl and Countess of Athlone, Lady Patricia Ramsay, and Lady May Abel Smith. It was at Lady May's wedding that the couple first met. It is understood the honeymoon will be spent in Egypt.

NEW MEANS TEST
BILL PASSED

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The Government's new Means Test Bill has passed through all stages in the House of Commons, the third reading by 232 votes to 41.

The Bill reduces the amount of disability pension, workmen's compensation and savings which are to be taken into account prior to the granting of relief.

EXPERIMENT SUCCESSFUL

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

GENEVA, Nov. 16.—A SUCCESSFUL test of telephonic conversation between Geneva and Tokyo was carried out in the early hours of the morning by League officials speaking to the station Kemikawa, near Tokyo. A new means of the most expeditious communication has thus been provided on the eve of the discussion on the Lytton Report.

TRADE TIDE
TURNEDHARROD'S CHAIRMAN
OPTIMISTIC

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Oct. 22.—Sir Woodman Burbidge, chairman of Harrods, Knightsbridge, London, when making an appeal on behalf of the Warehousemen, Clerks' and Drapers' Schools on Oct. 21 said: "Trade in this country is most satisfactory compared with conditions in other countries, and the spending power of the people is wonderful considering present day financial difficulties. 'I do feel,' continued Sir Woodman, 'that we have to-day got over our worst time. I am hoping that soon prices will stabilise with a slight tendency towards increase. During last month and the present month the returns of London houses have been showing an increase. I believe that the tide has turned and that we may look ahead with real hope that the increase in trade will continue.'

CHANCELLOR ON BETTER TIMES

(Special Air-Mail Service)

Oct. 23.—Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech at Birmingham on Oct. 22, said: "I see indications that there are the beginnings of more solid prospects of recovery than at any time since the present Government came into office. Already the rising tide of unemployment has been arrested, and I should not be surprised if we were to find before many weeks have passed that it had begun to set in the opposite direction."

OFF ANOTHER GOLD STANDARD

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Oct. 19.—Although it is not generally realized, the 15-carat gold standard has gone and special Orders-in-Council have authorised a new 14-carat standard for gold wares in its place. This move has been made after a big meeting of goldsmiths at Goldsmiths' Hall, London, in order to assist export trade. The 15-carat standard was almost unknown overseas, and by substituting the 14-carat it is hoped that wider markets will be found in America and other countries where the 14-carat standard prevails. The articles principally effected, it is understood, will be lighters, chains, watches, pencil cases, vanity cases, cigarette cases, medals, Masonic jewellery and similar things. Gold is now over 28 an ounce, the highest figure since last February.

GOODS DO NOT SELL
THEMSELVESPREMIERS ADVICE TO MANUFACTURERS

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Oct. 20.—The Prime Minister when speaking on the Ottawa Agreements at Westminster this week said: "I am profoundly convinced that every important industry in this country ought to take immediate advantage of the revitalised Imperial spirit which is abroad to-day in every part of the Empire. This is the moment for them to fix up contracts. But they will not succeed in this by sitting in England writing letters." A North of England manufacturer of fine cloths for ladies' model gowns, announced on his return from across the Atlantic, that he had just completed the most successful visit from a sales point of view that he could remember.

FUTURE OF CIVIL AVIATION?PREMIER REFUSES TO ANSWER QUESTION

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE)

RUSSIA, Nov. 15.—TO MEET the general convenience of the delegates to the Disarmament Bureau, and partly to give time for a more complete study of the French plan, Sir John Simon has postponed until Thursday his announcement to the Bureau of the new British disarmament proposals. A White Paper containing these proposals will be laid in Parliament at the same time as Sir John is speaking at Geneva.

To-day he had a further long conversation with Mr. Norman Davis, the chief American delegate and British, French and Italian experts were also actively engaged together on the naval aspects of disarmament.

The Prime Minister, in the House of Commons, when asked for a definite undertaking that Britain should not be pledged at the Disarmament Conference to any scheme of controlling internationally civil aviation which might impede the development of Imperial air transport, again refused to make any departure from normal practice when Governments are engaged in important negotiations.

Chambers greeted his answer, and also a supplementary question which inquired whether he was aware that an overwhelming majority of the Commons members would support him on the policy outlined by Mr. Baldwin on Friday night.

Mr. Baldwin, in his speech, referred to the advocated abolition of military aviation and a careful examination by nations of a means for controlling civil flying which he considers practicable without seriously impeding its development.

MOTION OF CENSURE
DEFEATEDBY MAJORITY OF FIVE VOTES

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—BY A narrow margin of five votes Mr. De Valera escaped the motion of censure submitted by Mr. W. T. Cosgrave in the Dail Eirann this evening.

Mr. de Valera was saved by the labour members of the Dail, who lent him their support.

Moving the vote of censure, Mr. Cosgrave declared that Mr. de Valera had handled both the internal and external affairs of the Irish Free State recklessly and irresponsibly, bringing political and economic disaster upon the country.

Mr. de Valera's response charged the British Government with the sole desire of destroying his Government. The whole aim of British policy, he said, was to drive the Irish from behind the government they had chosen and to restore the government which had worked so amicably with England.

On a division, 70 voted in favour of the motion of censure and 75 against.

BELGIUM ASKS FOR EXTENSIONOF WAR DEBTS
MORATORIUM

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—WHILE America's reception of the British and French war debt notes has not been encouraging, there is slightly better news regarding the conference on the issues raised between President Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt.

Yesterday, it appeared that Mr. Roosevelt was in no hurry to participate in the responsibility for reaching a decision. To-day, it is reported that a meeting between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hoover probably take place in Washington next week.

In the meantime, the Belgian Note has been delivered to Mr. Stimson by the Belgian Ambassador. The Belgian Note also asks for an extension of the moratorium on war debts and a re-examination of the debt settlements, citing the British and French requests.

Italy's failure to follow suit in asking for a further postponement of payments is exciting considerable interest in Italy where the opinion is generally held that Signor Mussolini is closely watching American reactions to the Anglo-French Notes before disclosing his hand. In Washington, there is no encouragement from the Democratic side of a revision of attitude towards the debts question. "Any move to revise the war debts by this or any other Congress would be defeated," declared Mr. Rainey, the Democratic leader of the House of Representatives to-day.

MISHAP TO BLUE
FUNNEL LINERQUESTIONS IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—THE practice of certain British shipping companies in carrying numerous Chinese on their ships as crews was the subject of discussion in the House of Commons to-day.

The question was raised by Mr. Logan, a Labour member, who made special reference to the mishap to the Blue Funnel liner Phenix, which was disabled in the recent Caribbean hurricane, and which had on board some sixteen British officers etc. and sixty Chinese crew.

Mr. Logan asked the Board of Trade to urge shipowners to carry British crews in view of the fact that this was the second recent accident to British ships carrying Chinese crews.

Mr. Kirkwood, the Glasgow left-winger, in a characteristic outburst said: "People say 'Buy British.' They should employ British sailors."

Dr. L. Burgin, Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, promised to investigate.

DICTATORSHIP

(Special Air-Mail Service)

OCT. 23.—To celebrate the tenth anniversary of Mussolini's dictatorship the Hungarian "E. Sz." Association has sent a deputation to Rome with a book containing two million signatures of Hungarian admirers of the Duce.

Another gift which will be presented to Mussolini is an artistic album containing forty original illustrations to Dante's "Divine Comedy," the work of the modern painter, Deso Foy, and a study of the influence of Italian literature on Hungarian literature by the famous translator of Dante's works, Mihaly Babits.

TRADE UNION
DECLINE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Oct. 21.—It is revealed in official figures that trade union membership throughout Gt. Britain and Northern Ireland has decreased in the past 10 years to a figure which is almost on a level with the total registered before the war. The peak year was 1920 when over 8,300,000 men and women were members but at the end of 1931 that vast total had shrunk to 4,600,000 which was a decline on the previous year's figure of over 4 per cent.

TOC H. IN THE ARMY

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Oct. 20.—As a first step towards complying with the dying wish of the late Lord Plumer, that Toc H. should take its place in the Army, it was decided at a meeting at Aldershot to form a branch of the Aldershot Command. General Sir Charles Harrington said: "Officers are proud to play with the men in their games. Why should they not be proud to combine with them in the movement? The Army is standing aloof because it does not understand. We are going to make it understand."

AIR MINISTER'S NEW
POWERSCHECK ON DANGEROUS
EXPERIMENTS

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Oct. 21.—There is a clause in the Air Navigation Directions, 1932, just issued which is designed to prevent the dangerous flying of private experimental aircraft. An inventor is no longer to be allowed to build and fly a flying machine, even over his own land, unless he first applies to the Air Minister for permission. The only exemptions from this regulation are aircraft flown under the supervision of, and built by, "approved" firms. Besides the principal aircraft constructing firms are a few lesser concerns not "approved." All such come under the new rule.

CHANG AND CHIANG

SITUATION

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16.—WHEN interviewed to-day Mayor Wu Teh Chen stated that Chang Hsueh-Liang left for Hankow again to-day to report the result of his meeting with Ho Ying-Ching and T. V. Soong to Chiang Kai Shek.

Before returning to Peiping Mayor Wu stated that Chang Hsueh-Liang's mission to Hankow was to discuss the military situation in North China and Jehol. Chang is attending the forthcoming Central Executive Committee meeting in December.

Mr. T. V. Soong arrived here this afternoon from Nanking and in view of the departure of Chang Hsueh-Liang, Mr. Soong did not proceed to Hangchow.

OF CANCELLATION

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

NANKING, Nov. 16.—INTERVIEWED at the aerodrome before his departure to Shanghai, Mr. T. V. Soong stated that the Ministry of Communications is studying the question of the cancellation of the China Merchants' mortgage agreement. The Government has already instructed Chen Fu Mu, who signed the agreement, to proceed immediately to Nanking for questioning.

No Knowledge of League Proposal. Questioned regarding the alleged League proposal for an international committee on the Far Eastern question, Mr. T. V. Soong denied any official knowledge.

PAPEN RECEIVES
REBUFFSOCIALISTS REFUSE TO DISCUSS SITUATION

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—THE position of the Chancellor, Herr von Papen, is becoming increasingly precarious. The opposition of Herr Hitler and the Nazi Party has now been reinforced by that of the Socialists, who delivered a rebuff to the Chancellor by refusing to discuss the political situation with him.

The leader of the Socialist group in the new Reichstag informed Herr von Papen that they would not discuss the problems with him because he recently described the Socialists as enemies of the people, because he is antipathetic to all parties, and because the conduct of negotiations for the formation of a new government is the business of the President not of the Chancellor.

TWO PRINCES TRAVEL ON ELECTRIC RAILWAY

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

RUSSIA, Nov. 15.—THE Prince of Wales and the Crown Prince of Sweden to-day visited the nerve centre of the Southern Railways London to Brighton electrification scheme at Three Bridges in Sussex.

They travelled by one of the new electric trains and rode most of the way in the drivers' cabin during which time the train touched seventy-five miles an hour.

At Three Bridges, they inspected the huge generating station and showed great interest in the machinery recording the movements of every signal and point on the system. The Princes afterwards returned to London by the same train.

JAP. TROOPS ON THE MOVEREINFORCEMENTS PASS
THROUGH HARBIN

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

HARBIN, Nov. 16.—JAPANESE reinforcements in considerable numbers are streaming through Harbin bound for the western section of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

A huge force is being massed in this zone and it appears that the Japanese have now decided to embark upon the task of suppressing General Su Ping Wen, who has control the C.E.R. from Manchuli almost to Taitshihar.

It is expected that a major offensive against Su Ping Wen will soon be commenced.

According to reports from Moscow, Su Ping Wen, who was until recently a Manchukuo commander and who defected with all his troops in North Manchuria, has given a blunt refusal to negotiate with the Japanese delegates, either for his return to the Manchukuo fold or for the release of the Japanese who are held prisoner at Manchuli.

The Japanese reinforcements, which are stated to have come right through from Dairen, are said to include infantry, cavalry and artillery.

PHILIPPINES GOVERNMENT
FACES DEFICITMATTER OF NINE MILLION
PESOS

MANILA, Nov. 12.—Whether or not the Philippine legislature has balanced the 1933 budget was still problematical yesterday in view of the increase in expenditures for next year. The best available information last night indicated that unless the government can raise something like P3,000,000 in additional revenue from the tariff and taxation bills, the government will face a deficit by the end of 1933.

Senator Jose Clarin, chairman of the senate committee on appropriations, last night declared that the appropriation bill as finally passed by the legislature carried a total outlay of more than P42,000,000 and the public works bill about P5,000,000. With the fixed charges totaling P10,500,000, the total expenses for 1933 will be P57,000,000 as compared with P48,000,000 which leaves a total deficit of about P9,500,000.

The sum does not include about P3,500,000 which, according to estimates, will have to be paid out for gratuities to government employees who may be dismissed from the service as a result of the reorganization of the government.

SHANGHAI DISTRICT
COURTDISCUSSION NOT DESIR-ABLE AT PRESENT

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—THE promised debate in the House of Lords on the subject of the Special District Court in Shanghai did not take place.

Lord Peel read a motion drawing attention to the agreement constituting the Shanghai District Court and asking the Government what steps are being taken for its revision. He added that the Foreign Office had intimated to him the view that his motion was inadvisable at present, and he therefore proposed postponing submitting it to the House.

Lord Hailsham, Secretary of State for War, said the Government was indebted to Lord Peel for his consideration. The reason the Government did not desire discussion of the question at this stage was that the course of affairs in Shanghai was such that it was impossible, until quite recently, to say with any certainty whether it was in the public interest to discuss the matter or not.

FREIGHT TRAIN
CAPTUREDNOVEL TRICK BY BANDIT

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

HARBIN, Nov. 16.—A FREIGHT train travelling on the eastern section of the Chinese Eastern Railway was captured in novel circumstances when a bandit hidden on the train applied the brakes and brought the train to a stop. His comrades, who were in ambush beside the track, immediately fired several volleys into the train. They then charged and, meeting with no opposition, captured and looted the train. A Russian driver and fireman were taken prisoner.

STRENGTH AND SKILL

CAMBRIDGE FORWARDS AS GOOD AS EVER.

A Fast Open Game, played under ideal conditions resulted in a win for Harlequins against Cambridge University by four goals (one penalty) (18 points) to two goals and a try (13 points). As the score shows, there was little in it, and the home team have to thank the accurate goal-kicking of Chapman for their victory. It being the first visit of the Light Blues to London, considerable interest was taken in them, and it would certainly appear that Marr has the makings of an extremely good side.

There is a strong, tireless, and efficient pack, who heel neatly and quickly, with two exceptionally fast men in W. J. Leather and Reid, and a really fine all-round scrum-monger in Waller, who was only kept out last year by an injury. Marr himself, Jones, W. H. Leather, and Delafeld are real workers in the closer phases, whilst Birdwood's hooking is well executed.

Packing 3, 3, 2.

No doubt the method of packing 3, 3, 2 (with Reid the third man in the second row on the side opposite to where the ball is coming in), lends itself to quick healing by reason of the consequent gap, but a heavy opposing pack might well shove them right off the ball, and so disorganise them. The Harlequin scrum, without Dunkley, Bennett, and Tanner, contained too many loose forwards to apply this necessary weight, and as a result, this formation proved most effective. Their line-out work was another of their virtues, with Marr particularly conspicuous, and when they get better together in the loose, they will take a lot of hold-ing.

The three-quarter line was not particularly impressive. They had plenty of chances but their methods were too mechanical, and they lacked the speed of their rivals. Phillips was perhaps the best of them, his try being a clever one, and Crawford at times showed speed and determination; but Kees was inclined to fumble, and Norwood had few chances to shine. Behind them, Parker, the Gloucester player, gave a fine exhibition; it will surely take someone really exceptional to displace him. Marr has plenty of outside to experiment with, and no doubt the qualities of Mercer, Anderson, and Eyle will be fully tested before the great day.

Halves—Neat and Effective.

The home team were rather patchy. No fault could be found with Block, who was in great form, but the three-quarter line was not very happy, and only Chapman, who played a magnificent all-round game, really added to his reputation. Dean and Cole were a neat and effective pair, whilst Skinner, Sparke, and the two Oxford Blues, Swayne and Russell-Roberts, were the pick of an eight which was much better in the open than in the tight.

In the second half a fumbled pass gave Phillips and Reid an opportunity, but Block smothered Reid, and there was a scrum about ten yards out. A quick Cambridge heel, and Pope had fed Reid direct. Out went the ball to Crawford, who dashed hard for the corner, to ground the ball just as Reeve got him. Parker's kick was a good one, but it just missed the goal. From a line-out Sparke, standing unmarked, shot the ball back to Cole. Dodging and swerving, he went right through the Cambridge men for a brilliant solo try behind the posts, Chapman again making no mistake. Right on time there came a brilliant effort by Phillips which arrowed the margin. He ran right through, with scarcely a finger laid on him, and Parker's successful kick was taken from straight in front.

NEW MEN IN OXFORD KEY POSITIONS

NEED FOR STIFFENING IN THE SCRUM.

After a match which might easily have gone the other way, so pressing was the siege of the Oxford line after the sides had crossed over on equal terms, Oxford University beat Old Merchant Taylors, at Teddington, by two goals and two tries (16 points) to a goal (5 points).

Oxford's first match of the season, which has for some time been against the O.M.T.'s, has often, on the alternate years when it is played away from Oxford, given Londoners as well as the University captain a shrewd idea of the possibilities of the Dark Blues' side. Saturday's match, to us who watched as well as to Lampport, was largely negative in its bearings on the future. We knew already that Minns and Waide were dangerous attacking wings, Lampport a quick and resourceful scrum worker, and Jenkins a good defending centre, and also that the pack needed several matches together before their strength could be gauged.

The importation of Bush and Park at fly-half and centre, respectively, both unknowns, was something of a gamble, and the deduction from their play in this match was that both these men must either do something in the way of making openings or give their passes at a speed which can impart a swing to the attack.

Useful Attributes.

If they cannot do this there is a risk that the attack, potentially formidable as it is, may be deprived of the match-winning chances which are their due. Waide, whom I saw for the first time, has undoubted speed and the ability to manoeuvre in a confined space, and Minns is a strong runner brimming over with the right instincts. Possibly the return of S. G. Osler to the side may work a big improvement.

Whether the Oxford pack will turn out a success or no is far too early to say. With the necessity for finding seven new forwards, Lampport had wisely relied, as far as possible, on the men who last year had had experience with the side but missed their Blue. Faced by a strong eight who know each other's play inside out and back up intensively, Oxford's forwards played up quite well and showed plenty of fire in the loose. But they are a light lot, and allowing that there is a good nucleus there, it would not be surprising to see either a change of tactics by or a substitution for one back-row forward—they cannot afford to have only seven pushing—a more experienced man than either Charles or Almond in the second row, and a stronger man than Peacock in the front row.

Keeping on the Ball.

These criticisms are made with a full sense of the meritorious constructive forward play to which they were opposed. These O.M.T. forwards never wavered in the task of rallying round on a mistake by their backs to give them another chance.

Had the O.M.T.'s outside the requisite pace they could hardly have helped winning. As it was, Parry's splendid fielding, kicking, and opening up, and H. D. Heck's daring runs were wasted, and the gaps in Oxford's defence were effectively closed by Lampport, or Jenkins, ever alert to cover up the mistakes of others.

WOMAN GOLF WONDER

MISS WETHERED SIX TIMES WORPLESDON WINNER

LONG DRIVING

Expectations were handsomely fulfilled in the thirty-six holes final of the scratch mixed golf foursomes at Worpleston, Miss Joyce Wethered and Raymond Oppenheimer beat Miss A. C. Regnart and Commander J. R. Johnston by eight up and seven to play.

Miss Wethered is clearly the best mixed foursomes player in the world. She has now won the "mixed doubles championship" six times, and with five different partners—Cyril Tolley (twice), her brother Roger, John Morrison, Michael Scott, and now Oppenheimer. I am inclined to think that Oppenheimer was the best of all. Certainly he played this week, splendid golf supporting length and accuracy with good putting.

But Miss Wethered, herself long and accurate, made the game easy for him. A less accomplished player than Oppenheimer could not have failed to shine when blessed with such a partner as Miss Wethered, who so consistently steered to the best possible position for the next shot.

The alliance dealt "terribly" with their victims in the final. Miss Regnart and Johnston played well, but had scarcely a chance. The losers were handicapped by the "order of play," Miss Regnart driving against Oppenheimer, who sometimes outdistanced her by eighty or ninety yards, while Johnston, though a useful hitter, had no real advantage for length over Miss Wethered.

So the effect—bound to tell—was the easier second shot for Miss Wethered and Oppenheimer, who soon made the game a victory march.

They kept mainly to the fairway in the morning. Their opponents, less accurate, were four down at the turn, and, though winning three holes on the way home, finished the round six down, the leaders having a total of 75—good in windy weather—against 85.

I must admit occasional departures from blameless golf by the "executioners." They had, for example, a seven at the twelfth hole, where Oppenheimer drove in to a wood and afterwards buried the ball in the face of a bunker.

And Miss Wethered, of all people, fluffed a short approach to the fifteenth.

But between these misadventures they played brilliantly to win the thirteenth in two and the fourteenth in three.

Miss Regnart and Johnston played with the courage of despair in the afternoon. They could not stem the tide which made them nine down at the sixth hole, but they made some fine recoveries, and Miss Regnart gallantly sank an uphill putt of fifteen yards to win the eighth in three.

It was their last success, however, and their opponents, out in 38 against 40, turned eight up, and halved the next two holes for the match.

And, walking back to the clubhouse, I heard some one observe that the only way to check Miss Wethered would be to make her side start four down in every game. Her opponents might then be able to make a match of it.—Leo Munro in Daily Express.

HOCH, THE ENGLISH CROWN PRINCE!

GERMAN REVELLERS CHEER THE ROYAL BROTHERS

Hamburg.—"Hoch! The English Crown Prince!"

A thousand merry-makers, in the highest of spirits, crowded the famous Zillertal in Hamburg.

Some were dancing on tables, others were drinking beer from the great Bavarian mugs and singing raucous drinking songs. A party including two young men entered.

The orchestra, taking note of the newcomers, quickly dropped their German Alpine tunes, and played British and German naval songs. All eyes were turned at once on the two young men who had entered.

STRANGE CASE OF MR. KEEN

DRAMATIC MOVE IN GUILDFORD CRIME

Guilford.—Sensational developments occurred in the police investigations of the mysterious deaths of Albert Keen, a farm labourer, and his wife, near Cut Mill Pond, at Shackleford, a few miles from here.

The detectives, sent a pair of trousers and a coat to Dr. Roche Lynch, the Home Office analyst, to examine for bloodstains, as well as a jagged hazel cudgel which the police believe shows signs of human hair and blood.

"We are anxiously awaiting the report of the Home Office analyst," Major Nicholson, the Chief Constable of Surrey, said to pressmen. "We can no longer think that the tragedy is a case of murder and suicide, and until we receive that report we are pursuing our enquiries on the lines that this is a most unusual and extraordinary crime."

Examination of the farm labourer's clothing shows no trace of blood, and it is considered impossible that the wounds could have been inflicted on Mrs. Keen without the assailant bearing some trace.

Other reasons which have led the police to the double murder idea are—

1.—Albert Keen died from drowning, but he was unconscious when he entered the water. That is proved by medical examination. There were curious crescent-shaped bruises on his head.

2.—His dinner basket, a milk can, and his coat were found near the pond. It is inconceivable that if Keen killed his wife and then went to the pond to commit suicide he would have carried these articles with him.

3.—Supper, cooked by Mrs. Keen in preparation for her husband's return from work, was on table in the cottage living-room, untouched. If a quarrel had arisen between the couple it would most probably have taken place over supper, and there would have been disarrangement of the meal.

4.—All evidence shows that the Keens were a devoted couple, living happily together.

What happened, in the view of the police, is this:—

The man who planned the murder waited near Cut Mill Pond to way-lay Keen on his way from work at Rodsall Manor, the home of Lady Guillemard, the wife of a former Governor of the Straits Settlements. Keen was knocked unconscious, and, still alive, dropped into the pond.

Attacked from Behind.

Then the murderer went to the cottage. Mrs. Keen was attacked from the rear, struck down, and then stabbed fatally in the throat.

It was common gossip in the villages near at hand that the Keens had secreted in the cottage a fairly large sum of money, and it was the lure of this which led to the double crime.

A two-seater is known to have been at the end of the lane leading to Cut Mill Pond and the Keens' cottage about the time when the two people must have met their death. The police, as stated in the Daily Express, are anxious to interview the driver of the car.

The medical evidence, at the inquest showed that Mrs. Keen died from knife wounds and that her husband was drowned.

ed—and then a roar went up, "Hoch! the English Crown Prince!"

Then someone shouted, "How are you, Mr. Prince of Wales?"

Seeing Night Life.

The Prince of Wales—for it was he—cheerily waved his hand.

The Prince and Prince George, who had flown from Sweden in the afternoon, were being shown something of Hamburg's night life by Dr. Klep, a director of the Hamburg-America Line, who had entertained them to dinner earlier in the evening.

Dr. Klep acted as guide to the party, who were accompanied by two British detectives and four Hamburg police officers in plain clothes.

First they visited the Hippodrome, a circus where women riders perform tricks on horses. They were instantly recognised, and the orchestra, composed of women, struck up "God Save the King."

MAN-EATING TREE SOUGHT FOR

HUSBAND AND WIFE TO EXPLORE SINBAD'S ISLAND GRIM NATIVE RITES

A woman will sail in the autumn to the island of Sinbad the Sailor in search of a man-eating tree to which native girls are sacrificed. She is the wife of a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, Capt. V. de la Motte Hurst, of Hove, who will lead an expedition into the wilds of Madagascar.

Madagascar was the island of Sinbad the Sailor, said Captain Hurst. "Capt. Kidd, the famous buccaner, founded a colony there. Possibly the tree, the giant bird which figured in the stories of Sinbad, may not be extinct."

"Capt. Kidd may have left buried treasure. There are rubies, sapphires, and other precious stones to be found, and blue clay, which might contain diamonds. Almost certainly there is oil, which could be exploited commercially. There is also the rare black orchid."

But the real object of the expedition is the discovery of the man-eating tree which is worshipped by the natives.

"I have never seen the tree, but have been told about it by several chiefs in the island," continued Capt. Hurst. "It eats human beings, and the natives are not too keen to indicate its locality. I hope, if possible, to take cinema pictures of the actual sacrificial ceremony."

"So far as I can gather the tree is like a colossal pineapple. The leaves are large and concave, resembling elephant's ears, and are lined with claws."

"The tree exudes an intoxicating liquid, which the natives drink in order to work themselves up for the religious ceremony. Then they dance around the tree."

"A young girl is made to drink the liquid, and is forced up to the apex of the tree. There must be some curious sense in the tree, because as soon as it feels the proximity of the sacrifice the tendrils entwine, and the leaves slowly raise themselves and completely hide the sacrifice."

"Pressure like a vice is exercised by the leaves, and it appears that the body is crushed. I am told that the leaves remain in that formation for five or six days and then gradually open. Only the bones of the victim are found."

SOCIAL SERVICE EXPERIMENT

THE PRINCE'S LEAD

£30,000 TO BE RAISED FOR SUNDERLAND'S UNEMPLOYED

Sunderland.—A new idea for raising £30,000 for social work among the unemployed has been adopted by workers at St. Mary Magdalene Church, Sunderland, in response to the Prince of Wales' appeal for social service.

A letter has been received from the Prince stating that he is deeply interested in the welfare of Sunderland, and is pleased to hear of the new enterprise to encourage people to raise money by various means.

Promoters of the scheme are offering £30,000 in prize money, ranging from a first prize of one hundred pounds to a thousand consolation prizes of five shillings each. It is suggested that the first round of the competition should be the holding of a "social service" and the next round should be a musical tent, the idea being that those who have held tents should induce others to hold tents.

If the full sum of £30,000 is obtained by means of this competition, which it is hoped will be taken up over a wide area, it is intended to provide a nursery school for the east end of the town, homes at low rents for poor people, and a social centre at St. Mary Magdalene Church.

Foreword by the Prince.

"As a foreword to the local appeal, the Prince of Wales has approved of the following extract from his memorable speech, to be republished:—

"I am thinking of each member of the unemployed population as a single, separate personality, beset by depression, labouring under a sense of frustration and futility—a blank wall in front of him which he can neither climb over nor scramble round."

"My appeal is to all those who are in work to play the part of neighbour and friend to the man out of work. That is the open road of duty."

For centuries Sunderland, the Mayor (Mr. E. H. Brown) states, has been noted for shipbuilding. "To-day no one is ordering ships to be built, our yards are silent, and 25,000 men are without employment. The present depression bears with exceptional severity on the highly-skilled workers of our great port, and no words can easily exaggerate either their courage and patience in adversity or the importance of finding a fresh outlet for their activities."

The present bold experiment, therefore, meets a real need, and deserves every encouragement."

PEIPING-SHANGHAI EXPRESS

THROUGH SERVICE EXPECTED BY MAY NEXT YEAR.

Peking, Nov. 1.—The direct Peking-Shanghai through express train service is expected to be inaugurated on May 1st next, according to information from local communications circles. When this service is started, passengers from Peking to Shanghai will not change trains at Nanking but will be ferried across the train ferry, Changkiang, which was launched at New-castle early last month by Mrs. Quo Tai Chi, the wife of the Chinese Minister at the Court of St. James.

The Tientsin-Pukow Railway Administration has placed an order for eight new locomotives and many new third class sleeping coaches. These are expected to arrive in China next February at the latest, when the present express schedule will be revised. At present the journey to Pukow takes more than 36 hours, and it is the plan of the administration to reduce this to 27 hours as was the case in the days of the Blue Express about seven years ago.
